

LARA GUSTAVSON

Lara is the Manager of eDiscovery at MetaJure, Inc.

Before joining MetaJure, Lara worked at Lighthouse Document Technologies as the Director of Business Development and eDiscovery Solutions for about a year. Lara developed client relationships and expanded the company's product and service offerings. She also managed the company accounts, which included pricing, project intake and oversight of production and delivery.

Lara previously worked at K&L Gates, formerly known as Preston Gates & Ellis in Seattle, Washington for eight years as a Staff Attorney in the Document Analysis and Technology Group. She managed a team of attorneys and support staff for large scale litigation with special emphasis on complex discovery issues and document production projects. Her duties included project planning, discovery request analysis, formulation of review criteria and strategy, identification of custodians and collection, and oversight of workflow and coordination of production. Lara was involved with the creation and implementation of proprietary software tools for electronic document review. Lara authored a resource guide relating to document retention, including schedules, policies and recommended practices for the preservation of electronic data.

Lara is a member of the Washington State Bar Association and a graduate from Southwestern University School of Law in Los Angeles, CA.
